STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLE REGARDING PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES AND PROFESSIONAL COURTESIES

In administering provisions of Articles V and VII, and/or requests for release time in addition to that provided in these Articles, the parties have agreed that certain principles should govern the discretionary judgments that teachers and administrators exercise.

These include:

- The District recognizes that administrators exercising their judgment in granting release time, is consistent with teachers meeting their professional responsibilities.
- On occasion personal circumstances justify the granting of discretionary release time, particularly when it is of a non-recurring nature, except classes for professional development, does not impede fully meeting professional obligations and does not burden co-workers, students and administration.
- Administration, in making case-by-case determinations to grant or deny requests for such discretionary release time will carefully balance school needs with the teacher's personal circumstances and not arbitrarily deny requests.
- Teachers will strive to meet personal obligations in a manner that does not impede the filling of their professional responsibilities or school needs.

Finally, the parties note that in agreeing to this statement of principle that are resolving several long-standing vexatious negotiations issues in the hope that individual judgments by teachers and administrators will be fairer and better resolution than rigid contracted rules. This statement will be reviewed in future negotiations and will not be subject to the grievance procedure.
